

THE FEDERATION of INTERNATIONAL TOUCH

Presents the

HISTORY of
TEST MATCHES
1985 - 2018

Attached is the collection of results of test matches played between all FIT Members. The first unofficially test was played between Australian and New Zealand in 1976 in Auckland. The first official test was held at South Melbourne Cricket ground in 1985. These records trace the history not only of the Trans Tasman battles but the test series played in Asia, Europe and Pacific Regions.

Canada became the second country to participate in a test series in 1988. They played Australia and New Zealand prior to the World Cup in a tri series. In 1995 Mark Wilkes the then President of Great Britain Touch took a Mixed team to Japan where a tri series was played with Australia and the host nation.

Another tri series between New Zealand, Niue and Samoa followed in 1998 thus setting the stage for Test matches that have endured until today where some thirty four (34) Test series have been played between fifteen (15) Federation nations
